About Peter

Peter has delivered training on hearing voices, paranoia and childhood trauma extensively across the UK, throughout Europe, USA, Australia and New Zealand. Peter is a guest lecturer at eight Universities in the UK, and holds a research post at Manchester University looking at a collaborative working between voluntary sector organisations and the university. Peter co-authored the workbook "Asking the Questions" with Paul Hammersley and Professor John Read, a guidebook around childhood trauma.

Peter runs his own training and consultancy agency, Asylum Associates, is a trainer and consultant to the UK mental health service, and is also a consultant and advisor to Melissa Roberts Foundation.

Peter has lived experience of hearing voices, paranoia and childhood trauma, and through learning holistic approaches, he has been able to reclaim his life.

Peter is an outstanding trainer and presenter. If you work with or care for people who experience hearing voices, and/or paranoia, and/or trauma. Or you are someone with lived experience, then:

You cannot afford to miss these
